Io Audio Technologies' Performance Series XLR Cables

A stable connection when you need it most...

Pro Audio Manufacturer, Io Audio Technologies, has developed a series of 3 pin XLR cables that offer unprecedented value for professional production companies and musicians alike. These cable assemblies use Io Audio's high quality, locking, 3 pin XLR connectors, which ensure a stable connection.

Io Audio Technologies' Performance Series XLR cables feature high-quality oxygen-free copper conductors that are insulated in polyethylene, which provides exceptional electrical performance that outshines competitors. The twisted pair configuration of the conductors and the spiral copper shield, providing up to 95% coverage from electromagnetic interference (EMI), assure a very low noise floor for a crystal clear connection. To top it all off, these cables feature a matte black PVC jacket that protects from repeated abuse and allows the cable to be flexible and retain its natural coil.

The Performance Series cables come in a range of standard sizes of 3, 6, 10, 25, 50, and 100 feet, with custom sizes available upon request guaranteeing you will always have the proper size cable for any application. From large touring productions to small data or control applications, these cables provide unfailing connection when it matters the most.

"Our Performance Series XLR cable is our most popular for a reason. It offers a solid, dependable connection for any event and is durable enough to withstand being stepped on, rolled over, bent, and even have drinks spilled on it. It does all of this without breaking the bank." said Randy Rivero, VP of Technology for Io Audio Technologies.
